Angelina Dowell has always believed in Santa since she was a little girl and it certainly hasn't changed now that she is an adult. In fact, if she could celebrate Christmas every day she would! However, when her best friend, Chad Rivers, announces that he's moving to San Diego to figure things out after his fiancé left him at the altar, Angie is going to need all the help she can get from Santa and his helpers to create a Christmas Eve that Chad will never forget. To do that, Angie has a plan that she believes will help her get the only thing she wants for Christmas this year: for her best friend to stay with her in New York City where he belongs. Will Christmas come through for her? Will her plan work? Or will everything she believes about the spirit of the holiday let her down? The Merry Plan is a romantic comedy that will have you believing in the season and in the power of love.
