What a gas! When you sneeze, thousands of tiny droplets shoot out of your nose as fast as a high-speed train. Sharing a room with a lot of smelly people can be bad for your health. Even after you've scrubbed yourself clean there are still millions of bacteria left on your body. Buzz Aldrin was the first man to pee his pants on the moon. Sheep droppings boiled in milk were once recommended for whooping cough. More incredible and disgusting facts inside, including plenty of things adults don't usually talk about! So if you want to know more about what goes on inside your body, and other equally revolting things, read on! It's foul!
