Struggling and feeling rejection deep inside when Ben denies Katie the one thing she desires, she starts to second guess herself with a lot of "what ifs" as she tries to figure out what she really wants most. She wonders what would have been if things had happened differently. Where would she be right now? Katie dreams of getting everything she desires, but does it fully satisfy her the way Ben does? Will her dreams reveal the truth of her feelings? Or will she lose it all because she is selfish and letting her desires rule over her heart? They say a dream is a wish your heart makes, but is Katie's heart the one in charge, or have her natural urges and frustrations taken control? Due to release on March 7th
