

Manley

Author:	Eliza Earsman
ASIN	B00Z8CTU56
Goodreads Rating:	4.62
Published:	June 7th 2015
Genre:	Childrens
Language	English
Pages:	20

Manley.pdf

Manley.epub

BACK STORY: Manley was in a bad way. Dehydrated and exhausted from a long ‘stowaway’ journey, he was found in the back of a removal merchant’s haulage truck. One day and 400 tarmac miles earlier he had crawled in to examine what he thought was a load of peace and quiet. Falling asleep on a sofa wasn’t the best option but that is what happened—and he had no way of raising the alarm. The two hardy workmen fed, watered and soothed him. Short of leaving him on the mean city streets, they had no option but to take him to an inner city London animal shelter. Staff there found a microchip identifying his owner but the ‘owner’ didn’t want the cost of hauling him back to his south-of-England home county. ***** A beautiful voice, strong character, alertness and healthy attitude stir together to give us this ginger tomcat with patches of white under his chin. His strong golden eyes are gentle and kind, white whiskers twitch when curiosity beckons, and four white paws keep him steady on the ground.

Manley’s respect for himself and others deserves to be heard. He asks friend Eliza to tell his story.