A relationship is the last thing on Rory Callahan's mind when he pays one of his rare visits into River Valley, Montana. By the end of the night, his entire life has changed. Missy O'Reilly is a singer with a dark secret that could cost her life. She does her gigs in small town after small town. Always on the run, never staying in one place for long. What will she do when she meets her soul mate, Rory? Dare she stay in River Valley?
