Fred is just your average kid. Almost. He loves birds. He loves college where he's getting a degree. He even loves a very nice girl named Melanie. He has only one problem. He's not normal. He's made from nano fibers.

He can change his shape at will.

He's more intelligent than a dozen humans put together. He also has the conscience of a Mother Theresa combined with the genius of Einstein. His biggest problem however is he has a human girlfriend, Melanie and a Nano girlfriend named Caroline. To make matters worse there's a group of people who want him and his kind eradicated. What's a Nano Kid to do?
